

MPSJ Able to Deal with Slope-Related Issues

Very few local authorities have a geotechnical expert to tackle problems related to slopes. Fortunately, the Subang Jaya Municipal Council is one of them. According to MPSJ president Datuk Asmawi bin Kasbi, there are only about 100 engineers who specialise in geotechnical issues. He said that the MPSJ slope unit under the Engineering Department has been working closely with the Public Works Institute of Malaysia (IKRAM), as well as providing technical advice to developers on geotechnical matters, including slope management.

(Sourced from The Star)