

An evaluation of stand-alone electrical power PV systems at Orang Asli villages in Cameron Highland, Malaysia

Abstract

This paper present a case study investigation on the functionality status of the rural photovoltaic electrical power photovoltaic (PV) systems installed at several Orang Asli villages or settlement around Cameron Highland, Pahang, Malaysia after average of 10 years of operation. Several important findings are highlighted and discussed.

Keywords;

Stand-alone; Rural; Photovoltaic; Renewable energy; Orang Asli